Still time to register for Oil Conference

There is still time to register for our Oil Conference. That is the message from Faroese Oil Industry Group (FOÍB) Managing Director Jan Muller about this landmark event which is to be held in the Nordic House in Tórshavn on Tuesday 4 June. The Conference which is focussed on highlighting the future of oil and gas exploration on the Faroese Continental Shelf will feature presentations from prominent industry figures from the UK, Norway and the Faroes. It will be attended by Faroese Prime Minister, Mr. Kaj Leo Johannesen and Minister for Trade and Industry, Mr Johan Dahl. Jan Muller has been greatly encouraged by the interest shown in the Conference from overseas. However he would like to stress that FOÍB can still accommodate more people and would be very pleased to welcome participants from the oil and gas industry, including those involved in supply chain activities as well as Government officials with relevant responsibilities. He also wishes to point out that those people who have previously received invitations but have not yet responded still have time to do so. The Conference is sponsored by Statoil, and this has enabled FOÍB to waive the usual registration fees. Those interested in attending should contact the Conference Administrator, Aimi Justinussen; by e-mail to aimi@foib.fo or by phone on +298 223675 The deadline for registration is 22 May.
